

Steel Profits Are Off by 60 Per Cent

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Bethlehem Steel Corp., the nation's second largest steel producer, reports profits were off 60 per cent in the third quarter and nearly 40 per cent in the first nine months of this year compared with 1969.

The earnings were disclosed Wednesday amid controversy over a report by the mayor of Lackawanna, N.Y., that Bethlehem planned to furlough between 6,000 and 7,000 of the 17,000 workers at its mill in Lackawanna.

A company spokesman in Bethlehem, Pa., said reports from union sources that 10,000 workers would be furloughed at the Lackawanna mill were "not true" but declined to comment on whether a lesser number would be laid off.

Armco Steel Corp., which ranks in the top five steel producers, said that if the General Motors strike continued through two more weeks it could cause major layoffs at its mills.

A spokesman for Armco, a Middletown, Ohio, firm, said two of its plants were major suppliers to GM. He did not specify which plants and the numbers of men that would be affected by a layoff.

In Pittsburgh, a spokesman for U.S. Steel, the nation's largest producer, said no major layoffs were planned. He said there had been "steady revisions" of the work force but termed the cuts minor.

Earlier this month, Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. said it was furloughing some 4,000 workers at its Pittsburgh and Cleveland area works. Announcing the layoffs, the firm noted that the auto industry accounts for about 32 per cent of J&L's production.

Bethlehem announced earlier this week it had laid off 900 workers—800 for one week and 100 indefinitely—because of a lack of orders.

New Arkansas Library Bldg. Supported

Nonpartisan support by all three candidates for governor of Arkansas for construction of a new State Library Building on Grounds of the State Capitol in Little Rock was announced here today by Mrs. Merlin M. Moore, Chairman of the Arkansas Library Commission, and R. A. Cox of Harrison, Chairman of the Legislative Committee of the Arkansas Library Association.

Statements endorsing the issuance of State Library construction bonds and a slight increase in the corporate franchise tax to service them, were issued by each of the candidates, Republican Governor Winthrop Rockefeller, Democrat Dale Bumpers, and American Independent Walter Carruth.

Said Mr. Rockefeller: "Support of the State Library is not a partisan issue. The need for the building is urgent. We urge the voters to approve a building and increase in tax needed to finance its construction."

Mr. Bumpers said, in part: "I heartily endorse Act 341 of 1969 and urge the voters to join me in voting for a new State Library Building. The benefits will far outweigh the costs."

Mr. Carruth announced he was supporting the building measure because "it will further advance the State Library development program" and "there is no question as to how this tax will be used."

ACT 341 of 1969 referred to the people a vote on two propositions:

1. To construct a State Library Building on a site owned by the State.
2. To increase the corporate franchise tax rate from 11-100ths of 1 per cent to 13-100ths of one per cent, up to a maximum increase of $5,000, and to increase the minimum tax on corporations from $11 to $31.

No Interest in Criticism

NEW YORK (AP) — George Harrison of the Beatles says Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's criticism of rock music lyrics, including some used by the British group, is of no interest to him.

"I don't know the man. I don't care what he thinks," Harrison told newsmen at Kennedy Airport Wednesday.

Harrison, accompanied by his wife, Patti, flew from London on a business trip.

son. Conservationists, on the other hand, see the wolf as a valuable species, a wild, rugged animal, an important part of the natural environment which deserves preservation.

The grizzly bear, huge, amazingly swift and sometimes vicious, is a fabled symbol of the rugged mountainous country of the West, but man's intrusions into the grizzly's domain have brought tragedy and outries against the animal.

Park officials have found a partial solution by airlifting the grizzlies to remote areas where meetings with humans are unlikely.

The Forest Service has taken a number of steps to alleviate extinction of certain game.

These include monitoring of streams to assure healthy water for fish, curbing poaching, including that of the endangered peregrine falcon; and cooperation with the Audubon Society in counting and protecting such endangered species as the whooping crane, Tule white-fronted goose and Eskimo curlew.

Admits Killing 15-25 in War

FARGO, N.D. (AP) — An ex-Marine testified at his own murder trial Wednesday that he personally killed between 15 and 25 of the enemy while serving in Vietnam.

Daniel Riely, 24, is accused of killing a Fargo cab driver, Joseph Claude, 54, last January.

Riely, who was awarded both the Bronze Star and Silver Star in Vietnam, said that in Marine boot camp "they give you the right to take a life and let it go. It's either you or the other guy."

Riely said he remembered hitting and kicking the cab driver, but didn't intend to kill him. "I didn't even know the man. I had no reason to kill or hit him ... except that I did hit him," he testified.

Road Projects Approved by Commission

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The State Highway Commission Wednesday agreed to permit the city of Little Rock to build certain structures to improve access to a proposed convention center.

The city wants to build a ramp off the Broadway Bridge, an overpass across Arkansas 10 from the Broadway on-ramp, and a street connection to Arkansas 10 at Ashley Street.

The commission also authorized a supplemental agreement for $165,910.31 to widen Blake Street in Pine Bluff in connection with the interstate highway development.

The widening will add two lanes to a two-lane section of Blake between the expressway and Reinhardt Road, the commission said.

The agreement was made with the contractors, McGeorge Contracting Co., Inc., and Bituminous Inc., both of Pine Bluff.

In other minute orders, the commission approved these projects and costs by county:

CLEBURNE — Surfacing of 2.85 miles of Arkansas 25 north from Arkansas 5 at $65,000.

CONWAY — Surfacing of 1.34 miles of Arkansas 247 north from Morrilton at $30,500.

CRAWFORD — Surfacing of 5.86 miles of Arkansas 348 east from Figure Five at $116,400.

POINSETT — Relocation of Lake Poinsett State Park on Arkansas 163 at $37,500.

ST. FRANCIS — Replace two timber bridges with concrete structures on Arkansas 50 between Greasy Corner and Chalfield at $35,000.

State-College Dialogue Plan Is Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — In an effort to establish a dialogue with college students on U.S. foreign policy, the State Department sent letters to the nation's 1,648 accredited colleges and universities soliciting invitations for campus visits.

In the five weeks that have passed the department has received 272 replies, all from relatively small schools.

"I'm told that's a good batting average, but percentage-wise, it's not too high," said Assistant Secretary of State Michael Collins, head of the campus liaison program.

"All the responses we've received have been enthusiastic and there hasn't been one negative one," he said in an interview.

Collins, a former astronaut who joined the State Department 10 months ago, said the campus project was initiated by Secretary of State William P. Rogers. "When I was hired, he told me to get with youth."

The program is one of several such Nixon administration projects. The Justice Department has been sending representatives to campuses since September. Earlier that month, eight young White House staffers visited 27 campuses across the country.

Collins said he hopes to mobilize 30 to 40 State Department officers to visit about 600 campuses within the next year.

In replying to the department, a few campus leaders expressed doubt the visits would accomplish anything tangible. But most said they would welcome State Department officials.

"The students aren't excitable at this point," said William Boudreau, 36, staff assistant to Collins.

Wants Woman to Be a Woman

CHICAGO (AP) — President Nixon told a group of women who greeted him on his arrival that, in the controversy about the women's liberation movement, "I want a woman to be a woman."

The subject came up as the women, attending a Junior League conference on the environment, asked Nixon Wednesday night to visit them at a breakfast this morning. They noted they represented several thousand women all over the country.

"Woman's lib?" the smiling President asked. When one replied "No," he quickly said, "That's right, I want a woman to be a woman."

Enrollment in Colleges Up 4 Per Cent

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A national study shows enrollment at colleges has increased 4 per cent over 1969 to 8.3 million this year based on estimates from 564 colleges.

Dr. Garland G. Parker, provost of the University of Cincinnati who compiled the study, said it indicated there were 2.1 million freshmen, an increase of 4 per cent.

Parker, an authority on college enrollments, will publish his annual enrollment study for the educational journal School and Society in December.

The names of the colleges reporting were not named, only designated as state universities and private institutions.

The annual study was started at the University of Cincinnati in 1919.

Despite the increases indicated in colleges, Parker said enrollments are "flattening out compared to the late 1960s."

He predicted continued slight increases in the 1970s "but with over eight million already on college campuses, even slender increases will be massive in their cumulative effect."

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — "San Francisco International Airport," the second segment of NBC's "Four in One" series, took off Wednesday night with a good, old-fashioned suspense story in modern dress.

The first of six action stories built around a commercial airport was hung on an antiwar scientist and his plan to protest the nation's arms buildup by unleashing a military shipment of lethal gas, destroying himself and anybody in its path.

The scientist gained access to the gas cylinders by a ruse in spite of a ring of armed guards and replaced a pressure gauge with a device that would, in three hours, release the poison. Then he gave himself up, with an explanation of his purpose, to the manager of the airport, played by Lloyd Bridges.

The rest of the program was devoted to the frantic hunt for the device while clearing the airport of planes and people. The plot is a basic one often used in television. However, it worked nicely against the busy, dramatic background of an airport. Bridges, an old hand at TV adventure, handled his hero's role easily as the story built to the anticipated climax and happy ending.

Final returns are not in, but the three networks know pretty well which of their programs are in trouble. And the network repair shops are at work attempting to save some series that seem susceptible to salvage.

"Matt Lincoln," for instance, will be given an extra dimension by ABC. The title role, in which Vince Edwards plays a social psychiatrist, will acquire a family—a wife and 6-year-old stepson. Katherine Crawford al-

THE WAITING GAME

Dear Helen:

My girl friend has an older brother and he usually brings his friends home, so we often talk together, along with his mother.

His mother doesn't think much of the type of girls they date. But they say that as soon as they're finished "fooling around" they'll start looking for "good" girls. (Like us.)

If these two nice guys—they aren't dopers or hippie types—think this way, then I guess a lot of others do too, and where does that leave us girls with high standards? Do we have to wait around until we're 17 or 18, when the guys settle down—at ages 19 or 20?—WAITING IM-PATIENTLY AT AGE 15

Dear 15:

While you're waiting, why not ready is working on episodes as the bride and Johnny Lee will play her boy. For the first several episodes, Matt Lincoln has been a bachelor with nothing much to worry about except his patients and his European sports car.

CBS's "Storefront Lawyer" has acquired a father image, actor Gerald O'Laughlin. The new cast member will play a senior member of a prestigious law firm. The network also plans to de-emphasize the storefront from which the young lawyers practice.

settle for nice guys nearer your age? (Those older fellas still see you as kid-sister types.)

You'll be surprised what a difference a year will make—and how well you'll be able to manage the O.G.s by then! —H. Dear Helen:

I have a problem grandmother. See, I live with her. Boys call, and she always sneaks on the other phone. I can hear the click. So then I go in the den to tell her I know she's on it, and she hears me coming and quickly hangs up and then acts all hurt and innocent. As soon as I go back, she picks it up again.

Last night a boy friend was talkin' to me and I know darn well she was listenin' cuz he asked me to meet him at the game, and afterwards Grandma said, "You can't go out tomorrow—you'll be with me," so I yelled back, and I guess you know the rest.

She has always been bossy and, when we get into a real fight, she comes on with "I've given you so much. What have I ever done to deserve this?"

I keep telling myself I don't hate her, but I can't keep on lying. What can I do? —GUARDIAN-BUGGED

Dear G. B.:

You can both stop playing roles and see each other as people you might even like to know, if you weren't stuck with living together.

"Grandma" is so busy being fearful (and somewhat reluctant) guardian that she can't recognize you as an average teen. Which makes you so resentful you don't see her as a worried woman, who may be aware that she is doing badly but afraid she is too old to change.

Perhaps she'd snoop and boss less if you'd share a little more of your life with her, exchanging compliments and expressing appreciation (even if you don't exactly feel it).

Anyway, it's worth a try. What have you got to lose, unless you enjoy feeding? —H.

Dear Helen:

The first guy I dated didn't get anywhere with me. So I lost him. The second guy got quite a lot, but not everything. I lost him too, plus a lot of my self-respect. I figured it was expected, but I sure didn't enjoy it.

Now I've got another guy, and he says petting is kid stuff. I didn't keep my first by being good, or my second by being not quite good, and now I wonder what I should do to keep the third? —ELENA

Dear Elena:

How about a brain overhaul? There's something awfully wrong when a girl thinks she must trade her body for the status of having a boy friend she apparently doesn't even like. Is your self-esteem so low that you feel this is all you have to offer?

Boys soon sense when a girl is selling herself. That's when they stop buying! —H.

Final Home Game for Bobcats

By BILL MOORE
Star Sports Writer

Friday night marks the last home game of the 1970 season for the Hope Bobcats, as they take on the Camden Panthers in their final conference game of the year.

Hope is 4-1 and Camden sports a 3-1 record in conference play. The only loss for both teams was to Arkadelphia, leaving both squads fighting for sole possession of second place in the 4AA West standings.

Camden has 19 seniors and three juniors on their two units with no one starting both ways. The Panthers will be remembering last year when they lost twice to Hope by scores of 19-7 and 13-6, the latter in the 4AA championship playoff.

The Panthers running the "pro", "Y", and "I" formations offensively, are led by junior quarterback Gary Parham, a 157 pounder. Parham's two backfield cohorts are seniors Thomas Damsby and Ted Willis, with David Smith at the flanker post.

The defense runs a split six with three men on each side of the two linebackers, who are wedged in close in the middle. Sometimes a 6-1 is also used.

Jim Dishroom and Ted Dodman are the linebackers and both are quick with a nose for the football. Guards James Fort and Randy Garner will give the offensive line fits as will tackles Jim Pickett and Calvin Johnson. Ken Morris, a 166 pound

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The picture in Class AAAA may clear up this weekend.

North Little Rock, unbeaten in conference play, journeys to Pine Bluff to meet the dangerous Zebras while Little Rock Hall and Fort Smith Northside, both with 3-1 conference records, meet at Fort Smith.

Top-ranked North Little Rock took a week off from conference play to whip Conway 26-0 last week while Pine Bluff warmed to the task with a 48-14 victory over Little Rock Horace Mann.

If the Wildcats can get by Pine Bluff, they will be assured of at least a tie for the championship.

Robert Howard, the Wildcats' 260-pound offensive tackle and placement kicker, broke his ankle last week when he fell while warming up on a muddy field. His absence will hurt, but Ken Stephens imaginative offense will keep the Zebras guessing.

NLR 21, PINE BLUFF 15.

For the last couple of years, Hall and Northside have matched unbeaten records and the winner has gone on to claim the state championship.

This year, the loser will be all but eliminated from the conference race.

Northside can be assured of at least a tie for the title by beating Hall this week and North Little Rock next week.

Third-ranked Hall slogged through the mud for a 28-7 victory over North Little Rock Northeast last week and the fourth-ranked Grizzlies were idle.

The extra week, the home field and Roger Carter add up to a Northside victory.

FS NORTHSIDE 24, LR HALL 21.

Harrison eliminated Subiaco from the Region IAA race last week and meets Rogers this week in a conference showdown.

Harrison has lost once in conference play and Rogers is unbeaten. Harrison has permitted only 30 points in eight games, but Rogers has rolled up 289 in eight appearances. Rogers can also play defense, giving up 46 points.

ROGERS 21, HARRISON 13.
Last week's percentage was .794. Here are other predictions involving AAAA, AAA and AA teams.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—The NCAA council says a well-paying job put Artis Gilmore in Jacksonville. Gilmore then helped put the Jacksonville University Dolphins in the NCAA basketball finals.

Now the National Collegiate Athletic Association has put JU on their censured list.

The action came Wednesday when the NCAA council said it

Safety Steve Walters missed part of Wednesday's workout because of a turned ankle but was expected to be able to play Saturday against Texas A&M.

A-State Is Still Rated Tops in U.S.

Arkansas State is still No. 1 in The Associated Press weekly College Division football poll—but a collection of Grizzlies are nipping at the Indians' heels.

Montana's Grizzlies, 7-0, who were a distant 49 points behind Arkansas State, 6-0, a week ago in the voting by a national panel of sportswriters and sportscasters, lumbered within six points of the top in the latest balloting announced Wednesday.

Each team received four first-place votes—Montana for its 35-7 romp over South Dakota and Arkansas State for its 28-23 trimming of Abilene Christian—but the Bears edged the Grizzlies in total points, 257-251.

Tampa, 6-0, which received three first-place votes, held on to third place with 219 points by belting Xavier of Ohio 33-10.

North Dakota State, No. 6 a week ago, cruised into fourth place with a 6-0-1 record and 171 points while Tennessee State, 6-0, remained fifth with 143.

Texas A&I, stunted 38-21 by unranked Angelo State for its first setback in six games, tumbled from fourth to 11th.

Filling out the top 10 are Western Kentucky, Delaware, Southern Illinois, Southwest Louisiana and Wofford.

Smell of Roses Is in the Air as Wildcats Tangle with Ohio State

Father of the Belly Series

Egad, friends, the Hoople System, functioning with the precision of a moon-landing team, continues to delight its followers and confound the other pigskin pundits.

Last week, we compiled an astonishing 40 right, 13 wrong, 754 record on a card featuring the top 53 collegiate contests—um-kumpli!

This week's schedule is loaded with prime engagements, so let's get right to it.

In the big showdown in the Ivy League, it's the Yale Bulldogs (5-0) entertaining the Dartmouth Indians (5-0) at New Haven. I predict the Yale lads will win a bristling battle, 28-22—Boola-Boola!

The Midwest boasts several top attractions, including Toledo (7-0) and Miami (5-1) in a clash for the Mid-America Conference lead. The Michigan Wolverines, sporting a 6-0 record, pay a call on Big Ten opponent Wisconsin, and the high-scoring Nebraska Cornhuskers (6-0-1) visit Boulder to meet the Colorado Buffaloes in the top Big Eight meeting.

Our calculations indicate Toledo will rack up its 19th consecutive triumph by topping the Redskins, 22-14; the Wolverines will smother the Badgers, 29-6; and the Cornhuskers will whip the Buffaloes, 34-22.

For Texas (5-0), it will be 26 straight wins as they corral the SMU Mustangs, 33-13, and the high-flying Air Force Falcons (7-0) will trounce Arizona, 36-12.

Notre Dame's Fighting Irish, returning to the football wars after a one-week layoff, journey to Philadelphia to meet the Navy. In this 44th gridiron meeting of these traditional foes, look for the N.D. stalwarts to thrash the undermanned Middies, 49-0.

Now, kiddies, hold onto

Oct. 9 in critical condition with burns over 82 per cent of his body.

Thirteen other Wichita State players and 17 officials and fans also died. There were 40 persons aboard the craft, which crashed into the side of a mountain near Silver Plume, Colo., Oct. 2.

Taylor, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Royce Taylor, was described as the worst injured survivor of the crash when he arrived at Brooke Army Medical Center from Denver, Colo.

Knicks Meet Fire-up Pistons Sat.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The momentum is already building for Saturday night's collision of National Basketball Association giants—the defending champion New York Knicks and Detroit's fired-up Pistons.

The two teams continued to tear up the rest of the NBA Wednesday night, the Knicks stomping Boston 126-89 for their seventh victory in nine games and the Pistons whipping Baltimore to remain undefeated through nine games.

In other NBA action, Cincinnati walloped Seattle 131-118, Chicago tripped Phoenix 118-105, San Diego overwhelmed Cleveland 110-99 and Philadelphia turned back San Francisco 111-108.

In the night's only two American Basketball Association games, Kentucky nipped Carolina 104-102 and Indiana downed Memphis 113-99.

"I haven't played a good game yet—not what I'm capable of," Detroit rookie sensation Bob Lanier said after Detroit opened a three-game lead over idle Milwaukee in the Midwest Division.

But his performance was hardly mediocre. The million-dollar center played less than half the game but still scored 19 points, equalling teammate Dave Bing's output and one below Jim Walker's team-high of 20.

Baltimore trailed by only three points in the third quarter before Lanier went to work, leading the Pistons to a 10-point advantage they never lost. Wes Unseld and Jack Marin shared scoring honors for the Bullets with 21 apiece.

The Knicks, led by Willis Reed's eight straight points in the first quarter, ran away from the Celtics, opening a 33-17 first-quarter lead and increasing it to 65-42 at the half.

Six Knicks wound up in double figures with Reed heading the list at 22 and Walt Frazier chipping in with 21. Jo Jo White's 19 paced the Celtics.

Seattle, playing without injured center Bob Rule, dropped its fourth in a row as Cincinnati put together a balanced attack led by guards Norm Van Lier with 23 and Nate Archibald with 21. Don Smith of the Sonics topped all scorers with 25.

Phoenix' 11 second-period turnovers contributed to Chicago's 55-35 halftime edge. Bob Love topped the Bulls with 28 points and Connie Hawkins had 26 for the Suns.

Elvin Hayes was San Diego's big gun, pouring in 40 points to hand winless Cleveland its eighth successive loss. It was also a dismal home debut for the 6,114 Cavaliers fans.

Philadelphia came from behind in the last quarter and outscored San Francisco 23-13 for the 76ers' eighth straight victory over the Warriors in the last three seasons.

Billy Cunningham, who topped Philadelphia in scoring, collected 10 of his 27 points in the final period. With San Francisco ahead 101-98, Cunningham connected for three field goals in the next four minutes to put the 76ers ahead to stay 107-103.

Jeff Mullins led the Warriors with 32 points.

Quarry's Share of Money Is Attached

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The live gate share earned by boxer Jerry Quarry in his losing fight Monday night against Muhammad Ali in Atlanta has been attached on behalf of Quarry's co-manager Johnny Flores, an attorney said Wednesday night.

Attorney Ben Adachi also said proceedings were under way in New York to tie up the amount Quarry is to get from closed circuit television. The gate sum is reportedly $41,000 and the TV figure is about a quarter of a million dollars.

Flores and Jerry's father Jack Quarry were co-managers of the heavyweight fighter early this year when two contracts were signed — one of them by Flores — for fights with Joe Frazier, one in New York and one in Los Angeles.

Quarry and his father claimed Flores had no right to sign a contract for that fight and subsequently, Quarry filed to dissolve his seven-year contract with Flores.

There is still a year and a half to go on that contract and Nov. 9 has been set for an arbitration hearing in the matter.

Still Going After 2nd Golf Win

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Ken Still, golf's most happy fella, went after a second consecutive pro title today in the first round of the $100,000 Sahara Invitational tournament.

Still, a lively, fast-talking veteran, snapped a season long slump last week when he fought off Lee Trevino and Bert Yancey on the first extra hole of a sudden death playoff for the $30,000 first prize in the Kaiser International in Napa, Calif.

The 35-year-old bachelor has not played a round since then. He skipped the two-day pro-am preceding the start of the Sahara in favor of a rest.

"I don't think I'd ever been so tired in my life," Still said. "A lot of it was burning up nervous energy. That's what my doctor told me."

Basketball to Name Top Pro Players

NEW YORK (AP) — Excellence from A to Z—Paul Arizin to Max Zaslofsky—was represented in nominees for the National Basketball Association's silver anniversary team announced Thursday by Commissioner Walter Kennedy.

Arizin, one of the game's great jump shooters with the old Philadelphia Warriors and Zaslofsky, an outstanding outside shooter with Chicago, were named along with 23 others.

A selection committee represented by players will vote for 10 of the 25 stars of a quarter-century of NBA action. The top vote-getters will be feted at the East-West All-Star game in San Diego on Jan. 12, 1971.

was played Sunday, then the playoff followed immediately.

"I never worked so hard in my life. You see, I'd never led for three rounds before and then on Sunday I never had more than a one-shot lead so there was no place for me to let up."

Still, winner of two events and about $72,000 last season, had been in a slump most of the year, winning only $27,000 prior to his Kaiser triumph.

"It all goes back to the winter when I cracked my ribs," he said. Still suffered the injury in an auto accident early in the season.

"I tried to come back too soon," he said. "I was just off the tour about six weeks and then I started favoring the ribs and got my swing all fouled up."

In the meantime, Dave Hill and Chi Chi Rodriguez prepared written reports to be submitted to PGA commissioner Joe Dey concerning their argument on the course during the final round last week.

Hill complained of Rodriguez' clowning tactics on the course while Rodriguez charged Hill with unsportsmanlike conduct. They were asked by tournament director Jack Tuthill to make reports to Dey.

Defending champion Jack Nicklaus and Masters title-holder Billy Casper were the pre-tourney favorites for the $20,000 top prize according to Las Vegas' legal bookies.

The first two rounds will be played on two desert courses, Sahara Nevada and Paradise Valley, with the players switching courses each day. The final two rounds will be played at Paradise Valley.

Flood Hasn't Been Signed by Senators

By BRUCE LOWITT

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Washington Senators owner Bob Short resumed contract negotiations today with renegade outfielder Curt Flood while speculation arose that Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn might announce a signing at a news conference.

"I'm sure we'll get this thing ironed out," Short said Wednesday night, referring to his attempts to add the controversial star to the roster of his American League club.

Flood is still engaged in a suit to overturn baseball's reserve clause, which binds a player to one club for life unless he is sold, traded or released.

He instituted the antitrust suit —backed by the Major League Players Association—when St. Louis traded him to Philadelphia. He refused to join the Phillies and sat out the 1970 season. A federal judge ruled against Flood in the suit's first phase and an appeal is pending.

Short acquired the right to deal with Flood by trading a player to the Phils and agreeing to send them another if he can land the 32-year-old star. Short already has one controversial star on his team—bad-boy pitcher Denny McLain, acquired in a trade with Detroit.

Kuhn's news conference was called to announce the details of the dividing up of World Series money—but rumors circulated that the commissioner would use the occasion to announce Flood's signing.

But a spokesman at Kuhn's office said he would be "very, very surprised if the commissioner makes any sort of announcement," stating that task would be up to Short.

He added that any contract, which Short and Kuhn have insisted would have nothing to do with Flood's suit and would not influence the case against baseball, would have to be approved by Kuhn.

Far West Is Far Out in Passing

NEW YORK (AP) — The Far West is far out in passing, the Midwest is running away in the rushing category and the South has a lot of stonewall defenses among the nation's college football teams.

Oregon leads a group of five Far West teams in forward passing, with a per-game average of 285.9 yards and 14 touchdowns, NCAA figures from the National Collegiate Sports Service disclosed today.

Stanford is second with a 284.7 average; Washington third with 276.5; San Diego fourth with 265.2 and UCLA, 10th with 234.1.

The Midwest has three representatives in the rushing group, led by the Southwest's Texas with 384.0 yards a game and 25 TDs. Ohio State is No. 2 with 368.4 and 24 TDs; Notre Dame, fourth with 312.6 and 16 and Cincinnati, seventh with 285.8 and 12.

In addition, Notre Dame leads in the total offense category with 533.4 yards a game and 25 TDs rushing and passing. Ohio State is No. 8 in that group with

Penquins Use Old and New to Lick LA

The Pittsburgh Penguins used something old and something new to whip Los Angeles in the National Hockey League Wednesday night but something new was all Minnesota needed against Chicago.

The Penguins got four goals in the first period, two from Veteran Ken Schinkel, another from Andy Bathgate, who was playing his 999th NHL game, and one by rookie Greg Polis, and went on to a 5-3 victory over I.A.

Meanwhile, Minnesota used three rookies—goalie Gilles Gilbert and forwards Judd Drouin and Buster Harvey—to clip Chicago, 2-1.

Elsewhere in the NHL Wednesday night, Toronto and New York bunched third period goals to score victories, the Maple Leafs whipping Montreal 6-2 and the Rangers downing Detroit 4-1. St. Louis took California 3-2 in the other game.

The Penguins, who had won only one of their first seven games, ganged up on Los Angeles early with Schinkel and Bathgate scoring in the first eight minutes. Dick Duff got one back for the Kings but Schinkel again and then Polis upped Pittsburgh's margin to 4-1. The last two goals came 39 seconds apart and the Kings never recovered from that barrage.

Gilbert, Minnesota's freshman goalie, turned in his second straight strong performance, stopping Chicago. The youngster kicked out 30 shots—an easy night compared to the 48 saves he had in his first NHL start last week in Montreal.

The North Stars won it on Buster Harvey's third period goal—the first professional tally for the youngster who moved straight from amateur ranks last season to the NHL this year. Judd Drouin, who was the American League's scoring champ last year, scored Minnesota's other goal to celebrate his 22nd birthday.

New York and Detroit were locked in a 1-1 tie until halfway through the third period and then the Rangers wore the Wings down, bunching goals by Bill Fairbairn, Vic Hadfield and Walt Tkaczuk for the victory.

Hadfield had two goals as New York stretched its unbeaten streak to seven games following an opening-night loss at St. Louis.

Toronto also enjoyed a big third period, rushing four goals past Montreal's Rogatien Vachon to beat the Canadiens.

Ron Ellis' first goal of the season started the Leafs' third period spurt and then Guy Trotter, Dave Keon and Norm Ullman also connected, wrapping up the victory for ex-Canadiens goalie Jacques Plante.

St. Louis snapped a scoreless tie with goals by Barclay Plager and Chris Bordeleau in the final two minutes of the second period and went on to beat winless California.

Plager hit at 17:59 and 1:11 later, Bordeleau scored. Rookie George Morrison made it 3-1 early in the third period and that gave the Blues enough of an edge to stand off late goals.

Tulsa Will Never Let It Happen Again

By ED TUNSTALL

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Officials of the University of Tulsa, hit with a three-year football probation along with Kansas State by the National Collegiate Athletic Assn., contend "this sort of things will never happen again."

The NCAA's powerful executive council slapped the three-year probation on the Golden Hurricanes and Kansas State Wednesday because of recruiting rule violations and giving improper financial aid to prospective athletes.

K-State and Tulsa will be on probation until Jan. 1, 1973, barring their football teams from post-season bowl games through that date.

The NCAA ruling confirmed investigations by the Big Eight and Missouri Valley conferences into recruiting irregularities.

Tulsa Athletic Director Glenn Dobbs said that he could "assure everyone that this sort of thing will never happen again at the University of Tulsa." Tulsa officials said they "don't like what has happened, but we accept the NCAA penalty."

There was no comment from Kansas State officials after NCAA announced the probation Wednesday.

The NCAA's committee on rules infractions also reviewed athletic practices at Marshall University in Huntington, W. Va., and LaSalle College in Philadelphia and restored them to full membership. Marshall was on a one-year probation for football recruiting rules violations in basketball recruiting.

Tuition to Colleges Keeps Climbing

By WILLIAM J. WAUGH
AP Education Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — State universities and colleges offer the best dollar bargain for the college-bound student but even here the cost of a college education has risen 30 per cent in the past five years. And it is going to continue to rise.

These were among conclusions of a joint report of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities, representing 275 schools, and the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges, representing 113 of the nation's biggest state schools.

The report indicated it is getting tougher and much more expensive to enroll as a nonresident student in the tax-supported institutions.

The median cost at a big state university for a resident student is $1,376 this year for tuition, board and room. For an out-of-state student it was $2,019.

At the normally smaller regional universities and state colleges, resident students got by for a median $1,215 while the nonresident had to come up with $1,689.

Actually the rise in most student charges was not as dramatic this year as in the past, the two associations said, but the found little encouragement in this.

Mild Mannered Off But Bear on Grid Field

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Dennis Watson, a 6-foot-2, 215-pound defensive end for the Baylor Bears, disdains the image of a football player being compared to an animal but he admits it doesn't hurt to behave like one on the football field.

As mild mannered and gentlemanly off the field as he is spirited on it, the senior pre-law major says, "You've got to become a wild man when you go out on that football field. It's like Butkus ... (Chicago Bear linebacker Dick Butkus, whom Watson and his roommate, defensive linebacker David Jones idolize). He's really not that bad a guy. He just psyches himself up in such a way that he has a personal dislike for anyone playing on the other side."

"You've got to be ready to destroy people on the football field," Watson continues. "They're out to destroy you. That's part of the game."

Watson has played more than aggressive football this season for the rejuvenated Bears. He has won the Fighlin' Bear award twice and has been team captain for three games. Coach Bill Beall says he's one of a select number of Baylor players who could be a first stringer for anybody in the country.

Watson, who was an all-district performer at Marshall High and an all-conference performer as a freshman at Baylor, looks forward to the remainder of Baylor's schedule—all Southwest Conference games.

"These games are something special to me. You play these people every year...you kinda build a certain dislike for those teams. You also associate a lot with great guys from the other teams...it means more."

Watson sees Baylor finishing the season with a winning percentage.

"That win Saturday night over the Aggies was just a start," Watson says. "We've got to continue to overcome our mistakes and we've got to have that offense cranked up more so that the defense doesn't have to play 90 plays a game. But, I'll tell you one thing, if we have to play 90 plays...or 100 plays, we'll do it...and we'll win."

boosts paint a much gloomier picture," the joint report added.

"The low-tuition principle, which has enabled more and more young people to obtain a college education, has been guarded by these institutions since their founding," the report said. "The financial realities of the seventies, however, are making this tenet more of a dream than a reality."

Contaminated Liver Pills Recalled

By G. C. THELEN Jr.
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration today announced the first recall of a product contaminated with poisonous mercury — 25,000 liver pills made from seals.

The FDA requested the recall in nine states after inspectors found mercury levels in the pills 60 times the safe level established for food: 0.5 parts per million. A half-part per million is comparable proportionally to a jigger of vermouth and a tankcar of gin.

The seal-liver pills were manufactured by Randal Nutritional Products, Santa Rosa, Calif., and are sold in health food stores as a blood builder and mild laxative.

The recall affects outlets in California, Washington, Oregon, Florida, Illinois, Oklahoma, Colorado, Michigan and New York.

An FDA scientist described the contaminated pills as a "possible, moderate health hazard."

The pills were fashioned from the livers of seals killed on the Pribilof Islands southeast of Alaska in 1964.

Randal freeze-dried the livers for storage and used them over the past six years to make 1,250,000 pills, the FDA said.

"Seal liver attracted my attention because it came from an animal most free of contaminants," said Downing B. Randal, president of the company. "You can just figure from this that there isn't any place in the whole earth that isn't contaminated."

Dr. George Y. Harry, director of the government's marine mammal biology laboratory in Seattle, said it is still not known how the seals became contaminated.

The seals, he said, migrate up and down the Pacific coast and possibly could have picked up mercury from industrial discharges.

The seal contamination was the first finding of significant quantities of mercury in ocean fish and mammals, said Harry, "and it was startling."

Abnormal amounts of mercury have been found in water, fish and game birds in at least 33 states. Commercial fishing has been curtailed in some states because of mercury pollution.

Harry said the government is checking other ocean fish and mammals following the seal finding. Some instances of mercury contamination — he would not say how many — have been found in other species.

Mercury attacks the brain and central nervous system causing blindness, paralysis and insanity. It also damages such vital internal organs as the kidneys and liver.

Grenade Not Detected on Long Flight

He was questioned or searched at Lagos, Kano, Rome and London, but the weapon

Walkout of Arms Talks Branded False

WASHINGTON (AP) — Frank Shakespeare, director of the United States Information Agency, says a Washington Post story that he suggested President Nixon pull the U.S. out of strategic arms limitation talks is "utterly without foundation."

The article, by Chalmers M. Roberts, said Shakespeare also called for severing ties with Moscow.

He made his proposal in a written memo to Nixon in early October, the Post said. This was just before a reported agreement between Moscow and Washington under which the Soviets said they were not building a submarine base in Cuba.

The Soviet-U.S. agreement was never officially confirmed, though Republican Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania said this week such a deal had been worked out.

A spokesman for the USA said "during the period when the submarine base reports were prevalent, Mr. Shakespeare was in Europe and made no recommendations whatsoever to anyone on the subject."

He said that at Lagos his bags were searched, but no one asked about his briefcase. At Kano, his typewriter was partly dismantled and an official asked what was in the briefcase. "Only some newspapers," he replied—and was allowed through.

At the Rome airport he walked around for more than an hour "swinging the briefcase ostentatiously." He dropped it behind the wheels of a DC8 jetliner, and an engineer picked it up for him.

"A policeman kicked it out of the way while I stood at the bar because I had left it in the middle of the walkway," he reported.

Shears said that when he left his plane at London, his pockets were turned out and his camera minutely examined.

"When I was released I said: 'If you had looked in there, you would have found a hand grenade.'"

"In return I got a cold stare and a murmur about people being comedians."

Soviet Press Grinds Out Propaganda

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet press ground out more propaganda today about the American plane with two U.S. Army generals aboard that crossed the Soviet-Turkish border eight days ago.

The Communist party newspaper Pravda said the incident was the result of American intelligence activities that have been going on around the Soviet borders for "many years" and proved that Washington "is increasingly inclined to try its luck on the slippery and dangerous path of the cold war."

The generals, along with their American pilot and a Turkish liaison officer, are being held in a government guest house in Leninakan, near the Turkish-Armenian border. Two American consuls who visited them Monday returned to Moscow Wednesday night after Soviet authorities refused them a second visit immediately.

Officer Won't Trust Anybody Anymore

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP) — Green Beret Capt. Jeffrey MacDonald, freed by the Army of charges he murdered his wife and two children, says the experience "changed my whole outlook. I don't trust anyone any more."

"I used to work hard helping people," the 27-year-old physician said Wednesday as he paced around the quarters to which he had been confined under guard for almost seven months.

"Well, I don't feel that way any more. It's bad enough to lose my family. But then to be charged with murdering them and have to go through a hearing and spend 20 grand for lawyers ... well, it just changed my whole outlook on life."

The Army dismissed three counts of premeditated murder against him in the slayings last February of his wife, Colette,

Request for Fee Rejected by Commission

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Richard N. Drake, director of the state Claims Commission, Tuesday rejected a request by Larry E. Case, 24, of Little Rock for a hearing before the general election on a $500 claim he has filed with the state Alcoholic Beverage Control Department.

Case, a private investigator, said the ABC owed him the money for an investigation he made into alleged narcotics sales by ABC agents.

Drake said the commission hearings were held the first Wednesday and Thursday of each month, which means that the November hearings will start the day after the election.

26, and his daughters, Kimberly, 6, and Kristen, 2.

He was charged in May. The Army said a five-week hearing had produced insufficient evidence to bring MacDonald to trial.

"I don't hate the Army," MacDonald said. "I'm proud of my Green Beret. But I've been through a bad scene and the best thing for me and for the Army is for me to get out. I'm applying for an immediate discharge and I'm sure I'll get it."

MacDonald said he plans to practice general medicine until next July—although he hasn't yet decided where—and then take up residency at Yale or Columbia to complete his studies as an orthopedic surgeon. He is from Patchogue, N.Y.

Pope to Make Another Tour Next Month

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI will stop at Tehran, Samarra, Jakarta, Hong Kong and Colombo on his trip next month to the Philippines and Australia, the Vatican announced today.

The stop in Tehran will be very brief, but the pontiff will celebrate Mass in Samarra, Jakarta, Hong Kong and Colombo.

While anxious to show the flag for the Church as much as possible in an area where the Church has not gained a foothold comparable to other areas, the Pope turned down two invitations: one from the government of South Vietnam and the other from the Catholic Bishops' Conference on the Nationalist Chinese island of Formosa.

To go to Saigon would have generally been viewed as a papal endorsement of the Saigon government's war against the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese. And to visit Formosa would probably have wrecked all chances, slim though they may be, to improve the Church's situation in Communist China.

Big Changes in Cities, Counties

By ROBERT SHAW
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Many of the major changes proposed by the Constitution of 1970 are contained in provisions affecting the municipalities and counties.

The new document would broaden the powers of both, but the Constitutional Convention delegates required largely that these powers could be exercised only with the approval of the voters.

Among the major changes in county government proposed by the Constitution of 1970 is the creation of a County Council of five, seven or nine members to replace the much-criticized quorum courts.

The council, whose members would serve two-year terms on a nonpartisan basis, would have all local legislative authority not denied by the constitution or the legislature. In contrast, quorum courts have very limited authority.

Articles dealing with the municipalities grant them all local powers not specifically denied by a three-fifths vote of the General Assembly.

Municipal authorities claim that a major drawback to their ability to cope now with mounting problems is that they are restricted to powers specifically granted by the Constitution of 1874 or by the legislature.

The proposed charter would give both municipalities and counties more taxing authority. Now, counties are limited to a 5-mill tax for general operations and a 3-mill road tax, which must be voted on every two years.

Under the proposed constitution, the counties could levy up to 10 mills for general operations, but any tax over 5 mills must have the approval of the voters. They could levy a 5-mill road tax, which would be a continuing levy.

The counties could also impose other types of taxes approved by their County Councils and the voters unless prohibited by the legislature.

Currently, municipalities have only those taxing powers specifically granted by the Constitution or the General Assembly. Under the new charter, they would have all taxing powers not denied by the Constitution or by a three-fifths vote of the legislature.

All municipal sales, income, use and payroll taxes must be approved by a vote of the people.

The municipalities could levy ad valorem property taxes of more than 5 mills only with voter approval. Other levies, which also would need voter consent, could be 2 mills each for libraries and hospitals, and 1 mill each for police and firemen's pensions. There would be no limit for other public purposes.

Presently, municipalities are limited to ad valorem property taxes of 5 mills for general operations and 1 mill each for libraries, police and firemen's pensions and hospitals.

The proposed constitution would continue a prohibition against municipalities incurring indebtedness beyond their revenues for a single fiscal year, but it permits the General Assembly to authorize short-term indebtedness beyond a year.

The document also would allow municipalities to issue capital improvement bonds supported by ad valorem property taxes, but total indebtedness could not exceed 20 per cent of the assessed value of property. No limit on the interest is set.

Currently, municipalities may levy property taxes of up to 5 mills for capital improvement bonds and the bonds may not bear more than 6 per cent interest.

The Constitution of 1874 does not contain a provision on the election of city council members. The proposed constitution, however, requires councilmen to be elected by popular vote. In cities of more than 10,000 population, at least half of the city council members would have to be elected from single-member districts.

The proposed charter would permit the city councils to set the salaries of elected municipal officials. The current constitution limits municipal pay to $5,000 a year.

The new constitution would drop the county coroner and surveyor from the list of constitutionally provided offices, but each county could provide for them if it desired.

The title of county judge would be changed to county administrator, since under other provisions of the proposal the county trial judge would assume the county judge's judicial functions.

The county administrator would have all executive powers of the county judge, plus authority to veto acts of the County Council.

All county officials would serve four-year terms rather than the two years currently. The County Council would fix the salaries of the officials within limits established by the legislature. Salaries are set by the present constitution at $5,000 a year. Fees would not be used as a basis of compensation.

BETHEL CHURCH PREPARES FOR CONFERENCE

The Bethel A. M. E. Church family of Hope is among a great number of A.M.E. church groups awaiting the eminence of the west Arkansas Conference which is to convene November 11-15. Beside the function of a reporting clearing house for the general church, this conference also renews and issues new appointments for all of the itinerate ministers and many of the laymen within a specified geographical boundary.

It appears at this time however, that Bethel A.M.E. church prefers that the Annual Conference not disturb the pastoral appointment here. Bethel's pastor, Dr. W. G. Wynn came to them one year ago bringing with him such experience and training, including, church pastor in other areas of Arkansas, Mississippi, Theological Seminary instructor and college minister and presiding elder. The successful administration with the member of this Methodist Church group testifies to lasting attributes of dignity, love, progress, devotion, consecration and competence.

In appreciation to Dr. Wynn for his efforts this year, the congregation is sponsoring an annual appreciation series of services, originally scheduled to start on November 5th, and end on Sunday November 8th. Elder O.N. Dennis, and the church of God in Christ congregation have elected to worship at Bethel on Sunday November 1st, at 2:30. Elder Dennis will preach the sermon at this time.

Other churches and ministers participating, include the following: Thursday night November 5th, at 7:00, visiting churches and choirs are Bee Bee C.M.E., Rising Star Baptist, and Mt. Pleasant C.M.E., Rev. W.M. Martin will preach the sermon.

On Friday night November 6th at 7:00, Mt. Zion C.M.E., and Mt. Olive Baptist churches. Rev. Cherry will preach the sermon.

On Sunday, November 8th, at 5:00 p.m. Loneke Baptist and Garrett Chapel Baptist churches and choirs will conduct the services. Rev. G. L. Hughes will preach the "Appreciation sermon". The visiting choirs, officers and ushers will conduct each service session. The public

GM Losses in Strike Now $77 Million

By A. F. MAHAN
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp., hit by a strike and sharply declining sales, has posted its first quarterly loss in 24 years.

GM reported Wednesday a $77 million loss for the July-September period of this year, compared with a profit of $230 million for the same three-month span of 1969.

The last previous quarterly loss reported by GM was $36.1 million in the first quarter of 1946, when the corporation was shut down more than 2½ months by a United Auto Workers strike. That strike began in 1945 and ran 119 days to March 19, 1946.

The current UAW strike in support of new contract demands now is in its 45th day, but it did not erupt until 15 days before the end of the third quarter, and shipments from factory lots continued to approximately Oct. 1.

Third-quarter GM sales were $3.5 billion, against $5 billion in the same three months the previous year, and for the three quarters $15.7 billion, compared with $17.7 billion.

GM's loss dropped its earnings for this year's first nine months to $744 million, compared with $1.2 billion for the January-September span of 1969.

Reporting earlier this month, Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. showed third-quarter profits of $73.9 million and $1.1 million, respectively.

Ford's profits for the first nine months totaled $365 million, down from $402 million. Chrysler had a loss of $20.2 million, having failed to overcome a first-quarter loss of $29.4 million in the two subsequent quarters.

Chairman James M. Roche and President Edward N. Cole of GM said in a joint statement that the beginning of the UAW strike contributed to the quarter's poor sales showing.

Torres Charges Another High General

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A 22-year-old sergeant accused of murder at My Lai has charged Gen. Creighton W. Abrams with violating the military code of justice by allowing civilians to be beaten and tortured at a South Vietnamese village in 1968.

Sgt. Esequiel Torres of Brownsville, Tex., also asserted Wednesday that Abrams, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, concealed a felony committed by his troops in his presence at the Vietnamese village of Chanh Luu.

The charges against the four-star general were filed by former U.S. Rep. Charles L. Weltner of Atlanta, Torres' chief civilian attorney, in a petition forwarded to Army Secretary Stanley R. Resor.

It was the second time in recent weeks that Torres has charged a ranking Army official with violating the military code in connection with action in Vietnam.

The first petition accused Gen. William C. Westmoreland, Army chief of staff, of being guilty of any atrocities that might have occurred at My Lai, contending that a commander is responsible for the actions of his troops even though he may not be aware of them.

Resor dismissed those charges on grounds that Westmoreland had no knowledge of the My Lai incident and was not present when the raid occurred on March 16, 1968.

Abrams' headquarters in Saigon had no comment on the charges against him.

Weltner said the charges were based on an Associated Press story, written from Chanh Luu by Peter Arnett, which appeared in newspapers of Aug. 12, 1968.

The 600-word story, which describes what it calls "one of the many allied raids on one of the most stubborn Viet Cong villages in Vietnam," in its first four paragraphs gave this description of activity in the village on Aug. 11, 1968:

"The people of Chanh Luu village squatted on their heels in the market place, watching impassively.

"The thud of fists on flesh in the rear room of one stucco house indicated that a battlefield interrogation was in progress. An armed guard pushed an old man, his hair matted with mud, into the main village square. His daughter followed, tied to a rope behind him.

"Rows of bound men and women crouched in an open storehouse. Some were muddled. A few looked clean, wet and pale. They had been through the 'water treatment,' a favorite form of interrogation in Vietnam. Water is poured on a prisoner's face to make him talk.

"Weapons and grenades were added to a growing pile in the center of the market place. Senior allied generals strode around, including the U.S. commander in Vietnam, Gen. Creighton W. Abrams ..."

Weltner said that if Resor dismisses the charges against Abrams "it'll be up to him to explain how a four-star general is immune to such a charge when the private and corporals are not."

Panamanian Engineer Seeks Asylum

By LUIS NOLI
Associated Press Writer

PANAMA (AP) — An engineer charged with leading a Communist underground movement in Panama has taken refuge in the Panama Canal Zone and asked the United States for political asylum. An American spokesman said the State Department is studying the request.

The engineer, Panamanian national Gilberto De Arco, went to a police station in the zone Tuesday night with his American attorney, Harry H. Allen Jr. Panama's military government had been looking for him since Saturday.

The Panamanian National Guard, the country's army, said De Arco is "under the protection of the status of political refugee, when in truth he is the leader of a band of terrorists who committed all kinds of criminal acts against property and the physical integrity of citizens."

Asked if extradition proceedings would be initiated, a National Guard spokesman said: "We won't waste our time."

The guard says the terrorist band carried out bank and casino robberies in which two guardsmen were slain and other terrorist acts as part of a plot against the regime of Brig. Gen. Omar Torrijos, the strongman of the government. The guard announced earlier this week that it had rounded up 29 persons in connection with the alleged plot, and that two others trained in Cuba for subversion had been killed resisting arrest.

Poe Hopeful of Pulling Off Surprise

By ROBERT SHAW Associated Press Writer

Donald Poe, a 65-year-old Waldron lawyer, hopes to pull off in Tuesday's general election a political surprise that would rank with John Paul Hammerschmidt's defeat of veteran Congressman J. W. Trimble in 1966.

If Poe does it, Hammerschmidt would be the victim.

Poe, a Democrat, is opposing Republican Hammerschmidt's bid for a third term in the state's 3rd Congressional District.

Hammerschmidt, the state's lone GOP congressman, is the only member of the four-man congressional delegation who has opposition this year.

His seat has been considered "safe" in the 25-county district, which sprawls from the north and northwest sections of the state to the southwest.

But Poe says, "I feel like I'm going to win it."

"Agnew said the people of the 3rd District were going to return Hammerschmidt by an overwhelming majority," Poe said. "You'd better talk to the people up here ..."

"Hammerschmidt has got a few press agents going over the district talking to a few dyed-in-the-wool Republicans and building a smokescreen that he is unbeatable."

Poe says he and his wife have been campaigning since early summer in an effort to contact as many voters as they can.

The tall and lean Hammerschmidt, a Harrison lumber dealer and chairman of the state GOP when he upset Trimble, makes frequent visits to his district. His campaign this year has been low key, quiet. He has deployed few campaign workers.

He says of little consequence in the district is that 85 per cent of the voters are Democrats.

"People are largely of independent judgment," he said. "People are becoming less partisan."

Hammerschmidt accepts few invitations to speak to civic clubs.

"I never considered myself very good as a politician," he says. "I'm not very good at making speeches."

Poe apparently was stung by a remark in which Hammerschmidt said he had nothing against elderly persons "but if he (Poe) knew what I know about the physical exertion of this job" he would not run.

"You can say I'm advanced in years if you desire, but I still have the desire to help people," Poe says.

"I'm a commoner — I'm a man for the people," Poe said. He said he had "left my tracks on the sands of time" when as a state legislator he helped with bills creating War Memorial Stadium in Little Rock and the University of Arkansas Medical Center. He served a term in the Arkansas House in 1947-48 and a term in the state Senate beginning in

Rock Beds at Douglas Community Building

—Mrs. Lonnie Crow photos with Star camera

Another rock bed, 10 ft. round on the slope to the southeast of the front of the building and one 10 ft. by 17 ft. kidney shape, at corner of Mack and Texas Streets. These two beds have Yucca, Yupon Holly Santolina, Mugho Pine, Convexa Holly and Cactus large black coral rocks to be added this week. These two beds were planted by the Johnny Thomason, Inc., Nursery Div., Hy. 29 South, (formerly the Bess Evans home). The beds were contributed by the Hope Council of Garden Clubs, The Rose and Gardenia Garden Clubs, Hope Housing Authority and dirt, some plants and labor contributed by the Johnny Thomason, Inc., Nursery Div.

One Red Maple tree and 3 Juniper (Dwarf) were planted at the maintenance entrance and 2 Crabapple trees planted on Mack-Texas Sts. front of building this week, also a large Pyracantha south side.

Landscaping the Douglas Community Center has been a continuing project of the Hope Council of Garden Clubs for three years. Hope Council of Garden Clubs and each member club have planted eighteen Pyracantha and eight Bla roses with six more roses to be planted in November along with some trees. The Hope Housing Authority and the residents of this area have also contributed money and time to this project. Since 265 meetings have been held in this building, we feel with that many people, it is a very worth while project. The Hope Council of Garden Clubs will enter this project in the Sears Enviromental Improvement contest. The Hope Council thanks all the many, many people and organizations contributing and especially Mr. Thomason for taking time from his erosion control work on the highways to build these beds before our deadline date to enter the contest.

President in Florida and Texas Appeals

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon, continuing his personal campaigning today in Florida and Texas, is making a new appeal for Democratic support in states where Republicans are a minority of registered voters.

In appearances Tuesday night in convention halls at West Palm Beach and Miami Beach, Nixon repeatedly urged a non-partisan stance by the electorate while stumping hard for the GOP Senate candidate, Rep.

William C. Cramer, who faces a strong opponent in Democratic newcomer Lawton Chiles.

At the Palm Beach meeting, for example, he said, "Let's forget party labels for a moment." While asserting it was traditional to be outspokenly partisan in the final week of a campaign, Nixon said he felt the issues in the balloting next Tuesday are too important for that.

The chief executive went on to solicit support for Cramer and Republican Gov. Claude Kirk, indicated by polls show to be running behind Democrat Reubin Askew.

In the Miami Beach Convention Hall where he received the GOP presidential nomination two years ago, Nixon made bows in the direction of Florida

Democrats.

Recalling that the Republicans had always won in Florida whenever he was on a national ticket, Nixon said:

"I know I never would have carried the state had it not been for Democrats."

Nixon had full houses in both the Palm Beach and Miami Beach halls. A difference was that in Miami Beach a number of vocal war protesters had been admitted.

Speaking of demonstrators, Nixon asserted as he has so often in recent weeks:

"I have news for you. They are not the majority of young Americans and they will not be the leaders of the future in America."

Following final Florida rallies in St. Petersburg and Tallahassee, Nixon was heading for Texas where Democrats enjoy a 4-1 edge in registered voters.

As in Florida, Texas has two key races that have attracted national attention: Democrat Lloyd Bentsen against GOP Rep. George Bush for the Senate, and Democratic Gov. Preston Smith seeking a second term against the challenge of Republican Paul Eggers.

Constitution Endorsement

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Fifteen Arkansas lawyers, including former Associate Justice Paul Ward of the state Supreme Court, Tuesday endorsed the proposed new constitution.

Says Salary Claim Is Misleading

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Mrs. Alice Glover of Little Rock, president-elect of the Arkansas Education Association, said Tuesday that Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's campaign literature claiming credit for an increase in teachers' salaries was misleading.

She said three "meager increases" in Arkansas teacher salaries totaling an average of $1,077 during the Rockefeller administration were provided by the General Assembly "in spite of the role" Rockefeller played.

She accused the governor of not doing all he could to help education in the state.

Mrs. Glover told a news conference that Arkansas teachers have been assured "greater leadership and greater priority" from Dale Bumpers, the Democratic gubernatorial nominee.

"Personally, I feel one of the great problems is finding a man who can get our program through the legislature, who will put forth the administrative leadership to make it a reality," Mrs. Glover said.

The AEA is seeking $30 million more in state funds in the 1971-72 fiscal year and $10 million more in the following fiscal year for elementary and secondary education, including teacher salaries.

It is anticipated that this money would raise teacher salaries in Arkansas to the current level of salaries of teachers in neighboring states. Bumpers has said he wants to bring Arkansas salaries up to at least the regional level and has termed the AEA program reasonable.

Mrs. Glover said that in the last school year the average salary of Arkansas teachers was more than $400 further behind the national average than when Rockefeller took office in 1967 and that the difference will increase by another $400 in this school year.

Arkansas teacher salaries will be at least $2,700 below the national average, she said. She said the average state salary was $6,257.

Mrs. Glover disputed Rockefeller's claim that 47.5 per cent of general revenues in the 1969-

70 school year went for public schools. She said the figure was 46 per cent.

She also claimed that Rockefeller was wrong by saying that 67 per cent of all general revenues went to education of all kinds. She said the figure was 64.9 per cent.

Agnew Loves Every Minute of His Tour

By H. L. SCHWARTZ III
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew says he has "loved every minute" of his controversial campaign travels this fall and has "relished this assignment for President Nixon."

"No task any vice president has ever had could begin to measure up to mine this year in importance to the people of the United States," Agnew told a Navy League dinner Tuesday night in what was billed as a nonpolitical speech, but turned out to be anything but.

After his one-night visit to New York, Agnew had campaign stops scheduled today in Albany, Ga., and Birmingham, Ala.

Agnew's appearance here was planned before the vice president became a major issue in the state's three-way U.S. Senate race by declaring that Sen. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., had read himself out of the GOP.

Agnew aides said beforehand the appearance was not political and the vice president said he was checking "my political hat at the door."

But Agnew made Goodell, who has become one of the Senate's leading doves since he was appointed two years ago to succeed the late Robert F. Kennedy, a major part of his lengthy argument for strong national defense.

He began by saying that the Senate race, in which Conservative James L. Buckley appears to be leading Democrat Richard Ottinger with Goodell running third, "seems to be going rather well."

As he has previously, however, the vice president stopped short of endorsing Buckley and said only that of the candidates "I oppose two and don't oppose one."

He visited New York a day after Republican Mayor John V. Lindsay sharply criticized both President Nixon and Agnew for campaign tactics.

Agnew did not say anything about Lindsay.

In a reference to how he might "attract some attention,"

Agnew said: "I think it's time I took my gloves off. No more of this Mister Nice Guy stuff. Starting tomorrow I will try to switch off my low key approach and start calling a spade a spade."

"Maybe then I can attract some attention."

Agnew said that just a "one-seat change in the Senate" could save the antimissile defense system—ABM—next year, could "save America's prestige in the world by forestalling a runout" in Vietnam and "could block a crippling cut in national defense appropriations."

Officer Plans Vietnam Visit

SAIGON (AP) — Robert C. Seamans, U.S. Air Force secretary, will arrive next Tuesday for a three-day visit to South Vietnam.

An announcement Tuesday said he would obtain first hand information on progress in expanding the South Vietnamese air force and attend a ceremony during which a helicopter based at Soc Trang would be turned over to the Vietnamese.

| Opening lead—A Q | | |

Defense is usually more difficult than dummy play. The reason is that declarer is operating 26 cards as a unit while each defender is struggling with his own 13 cards. Of course, he sees the dummy but somehow or other a defender doesn't take full advantage of what he sees and what he should know from the bidding.

South's four-spade bid was most effective. East wanted to try five diamonds but the vulnerability made it a trifle too dangerous. If he had taken that wild chance, the combination of the heart queen in the South hand and the diamond king in the North would have made him a real hero. Five diamonds would wheel in, but East passed and West was on lead.

West decided to open the queen of spades. It looks safe and he didn't know which other lead would prove unsafe.

South cashed the ace and king of spades, while East discarded the seven and then the three of diamonds.

Then South led the 10 of clubs. West slapped on the king without a moment's hesitation in order to put the queen of diamonds on the table. South ruffed that and led a second club to dummy's jack. With clubs breaking 3-3, South was able to discard a low heart and make his contract.

West blamed his partner for signaling in diamonds but West's play of the club king was a bad one. East was really marked with the ace of clubs and West should have let East win that first club in order to lead a heart. Now, when West got in with the club king, he would have to decide which suit to lead but, assuming East had led the heart three, he would know that South held another heart.

West 2♦ North 3♦ East 1♦ South 3♦

You, South, hold:

What do you do now?

A—Bid three spades. You don't want to try no-trump and four spades should be easier to make than five diamonds. You do have a pretty good five-card spade suit.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Your partner continues to four clubs. What do you do now?

Johnson to Keep Out of Politics

By FRANCES LEWINE

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson says her husband has no intention of injecting himself into national politics and won't be "harnessed and bridled into anything demanding a schedule."

"He is concerned for a few personal friends he believes in," but that's the extent of his interest in the current election campaign, Mrs. Johnson said in an interview.

If asked his main occupation nowadays, Mrs. Johnson said, the ex-president is likely to reply: "I am trying to keep my grass green and keep my cattle fat."

"Vastly relieved" that her 783-page book, "A White House Diary," is now published, the former first lady said: "At the head of my docket now is learning to play golf."

Johnson needs a steady partner for the sport which he took up again this summer at Lady Bird Johnson Municipal Park near Fredericksburg, Tex.

His own book is progressing well Mrs. Johnson said. But she doesn't expect it to be out until sometime next year because the publishers "probably would give me a play for a number of months."

Asked if Johnson might speak out in reply to President Nixon or Vice President Spiro T. Agnew in the campaign, Mrs. Johnson said: "He doesn't want to inject himself into it. Except for being a very concerned citizen and voting for the people in our own area and being quite earnest about trying to improve our own area, I do not foresee any activity."

Johnson did a little campaigning in his home state for Lloyd Bentsen, the Democrat running for the Senate in Texas against Republican Rep. George Bush.

While here promoting her book, Mrs. Johnson went to Maryland campaign parties "for two good friends of mine for whom I have high hopes." Her candidates are congressional hopeful Tom Boggs, son of long-time Johnson friend Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La., and a newcomer to politics running for the Maryland House of Delegates, Ruffin Maddox whose wife, Marcia, was on Mrs. Johnson's White House staff.

Asked to assess the effectiveness of campaigning by a first lady, veteran campaigner Lady Bird said:

"I think she naturally can be helpful speaking for her husband. She's the next thing to him. He can't be everywhere and since people do want to understand the man who is their leader, I think they have a feeling of being closer to him and understanding him and knowing more about him when they meet his wife."

"And I'm sure some of that must rub off on other candidates too."

Mrs. Johnson emphatically declared there were no regrets at all over her husband's decision not to run in 1968. "We gave it all we had," she feels "satisfied enough" about those presidential years.

Mrs. Johnson said "I don't think there's a chance" a president can become isolated and surrounded by yes-men as has been suggested by former Johnson press secretary George Reedy.

"Nobody has such a barrage of information flung at him. And quite truly it is not all plaudits and friendly and hurrahs. It's on the three faces of television (the three networks) and all that stack of papers lying on his bed that come in with his tea every morning."

"How can he fail to listen? He has his mail. A wise person, almost anybody, would feel it necessary to be attuned to that mail. I know Lyndon did. And then there are senators from both parties and loud voices proclaiming their views. No, I don't think there's a chance."

Trying to Get Students Into Building

By PHILIP PALMER

Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A year ago John Konwiser was stumped. A home building executive, he wanted to interest high school students in going into the construction trades. He was drawing blanks.

"We tried going into schools and giving talks," he says. "But the boys weren't responding."

Then it occurred to him: Give them a taste of real construction work—with pay.

Konwiser arranged to provide a dilapidated old house for the boys to renovate and have journeymen from the home building trades instruct and supervise the work.

The idea was the basis for a pilot project last February through June. It was so successful that Konwiser and fellow executives now are working to spread it nationwide.

Two dozen boys at Jefferson High, in a Negro working class district just north of Watts worked eight hours each Saturday, transforming a 70-year-old house into a neighborhood showplace.

This fall four such projects are under way, two in Los Angeles and one each in Santa Ana and Oakland. Others are planned for next year in Long Beach and Sacramento, Calif., and in Chicago and Austin, Tex.

Harold Campbell, the boys' vocational arts teacher who acted as job foreman, said that of the eight seniors in the pilot project, one is in a carpentry apprentice program, three are in technical school in carpentry or drafting and a fifth stands a good chance of entering a carpentry apprentice program soon.

Others still in high school have expressed a definite interest in joining the building trades after they graduate, he added.

Marijuana Used Often in High Schools

By WILLIAM J. WAUGH
AP Education Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — One of every 10 high school academic leaders contacted in a national survey say they personally use marijuana.

More than 22,000 youths 16 to 18 years old in 18,000 private, public and parochial schools responded to the 70-question survey distributed by Merit Publishing Co., Northfield, Ill. Recipients, all juniors and seniors, were top scholars and student leaders recommended by the schools, the sponsors said.

When asked whether they use marijuana now, 10 per cent replied yes, 88 per cent said no and 2 per cent didn't respond. In answer to another question, 21 per cent indicated that they would use it if marijuana were legalized.

When asked whether they approve of premarital sexual intercourse, 5 per cent failed to respond, 53 per cent said no and 42 per cent said yes. But 24 per cent of the respondents ducked the question when asked whether they participated in sexual relations. Of those answering, 16 per cent said they had and 60 per cent said they had not.

The sponsors said nine students were selected to write the questions, which ranged from Vietnam to drug use and national politics to ecology.

Most of the students said that ending the Vietnam war is the nation's No. 1 priority and a whopping 85 per cent said that respect for this country had suffered because of the Vietnam conflict.

On race relations, 68 per cent opposed busing students from either black or white communities, but 84 per cent said they would move into an integrated neighborhood.

On national politics, 75 per cent favored lowering the voting age to 18, and 85 per cent would abolish the electoral college. Forty-six per cent said they would have voted for President Nixon in 1968, 40 per cent for Hubert Humphrey and 5 per cent for George Wallace.

Fifty-two per cent said they felt Nixon is doing a good job as president.

Another My Lai Trial Set for Dec.

FT. McPHERSON, Ga. (AP) — A military judge has set Dec. 8 for the court-martial of Spec. 4 Robert W. T'Souvas, one of the 10 soldiers charged in the alleged massacre at My Lai.

The action by Lt. Col. Madison C. Wright II came Tuesday after a day-long hearing in which T'Souvas became the first of the My Lai defendants to testify in open court.

Wright rejected defense motions for dismissal of the charges on grounds that T'Souvas had been denied his right to due process of law and a speedy trial.

T'Souvas, 21, of San Jose, Calif., is charged with the premeditated murder of two unidentified Vietnamese civilians during the America Division's raid on My Lai in March 1968.

T'Souvas told the court he did not recall events surrounding the alleged massacre.

He also testified that he was confined to a military psychiatric ward in Korea some months after the My Lai raid "in regards to some pills I had taken."

The commanding officer and executive officer of the Army company to which T'Souvas was assigned in Korea both told the court that the soldier was placed under observation because he was suspected of taking drugs.

War Deaths Lowest in Months

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — The allied commands today reported 43 Americans killed in action last week, scattered fighting in Cambodia with 44 enemy troops killed in one clash and sharp curtailment in American air attacks in Vietnam due to a storm.

Another 279 Americans were wounded last week, and a U.S. spokesman said the total of 322 American casualties was the lowest since March 5, 1966. The total of 43 dead was three more than the week before, but the spokesman said it was the fourth consecutive week that U.S. battlefield deaths were below 50, the first time this had occurred since September-October 1965.

Another 38 American servicemen died last week from accidents or illness, the U.S. Command said, raising total American casualties in the war since Jan. 1, 1961, to 43,904 killed in action, 8,730 dead from accidents or illness, and 291,024 wounded.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported 215 of its troops killed in action last week and 625 wounded, and the U.S. Command said allied forces killed 1,484 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong. The South Vietnamese tolls were Saigon's lowest since mid-September; the enemy toll was 327 more than claimed the week before.

The U.S. Command said American forces experienced only light combat activity during the past 24 hours, with field reports indicating no Americans killed in action.

American air activity dropped to one of its lowest levels of the war because of tropical storm Louise's 58-mile-an-hour winds. Only 21 fighter-bomber strikes were flown from 8 a.m. Wednesday to 8 a.m. today. Planes were moved from two coastal bases, but the storm blew itself out today, and normal operations were expected Friday.

The storm had no effect on the Air Force's high-altitude B52 bombers, which for the 20th consecutive day pounded the Ho Chi Minh trail through southeastern Laos. Authoritative sources said the volume of North Vietnamese supplies moving along the jungle network is 50 per cent greater than last year.

In the ground war, the 6,000-man South Vietnamese task force operating in the Fish Hook region of Cambodia about 80 miles north of Saigon clashed Wednesday with North Vietnamese troops along Route 7. The South Vietnamese said they killed 44 of the enemy and captured six weapons. South Vietnamese casualties were one killed and 36 wounded.

Enemy attacks also were reported on South Vietnamese forces 15 miles northeast of Phnom Penh and on Cambodian forces 45 miles southwest and 35 miles west of the capital, but they did not appear to be serious.

Jury Indicts Frazier for Slaying Five

By DOUG WILLIS
Associated Press Writer
SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP) — The Santa Cruz County grand jury has indicted John Linley Frazier on a charge of murdering five people in a luxurious mansion less than a half-mile from the dilapidated cowshed where he lived.

The indictment was returned Wednesday night after Dist. Atty. Peter Chang Jr. questioned 22 witnesses for three hours behind closed doors.

Frazier, 24, is accused of shooting the victims in the head Oct. 19 and dumping their bodies into the swimming pool at Dr. Victor Ohta's $250,000 hilltop home overlooking the Pacific.

Within minutes of receiving the indictment, Judge Charles F. Franch of Santa Cruz County Superior Court clamped down on publicity surrounding the case.

He issued a four-page order prohibiting statements to news media about evidence, motives or speculation on the slayings.

Nixon Says VP Doing Fine Job But Keeps Option on the Future

CHICAGO (AP) — President Nixon, carrying his cross-country Republican campaign to the Pacific Coast today, is keeping open his option on whether to back Vice President Spiro T. Agnew as his 1972 running mate.

Before flying to Illinois Wednesday night, Nixon was asked in Texas about a published report that Agnew might be dumped from the GOP ticket.

WR Campaigns Down Arkansas River Valley

By JOHN R. STARR
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller spun his helicopter campaign for a third term up the Arkansas River Valley Wednesday, pushing for adoption of the proposed new constitution and counterattacking against his opponent's criticism at each stop.

He ended a lung-straining day at Greenwood where an enthusiastic crowd of more than 550, most of them Republicans and proud of it, gave him his warmest reception of the trip at the fairgrounds of South Sebastian County.

His running mates — both of whom got the benefit of kind words from him during the day — gathered with him at the last stop. Sterling Cockrill, the GOP candidate for lieutenant governor, and Jim Sheets, running for secretary of state, shared speaking time with him.

In his speeches, Rockefeller did not really come to grips with a new campaign issue, a charge by Mrs. Alice Glover of Little Rock, president-elect of the Arkansas Education Association, that campaign literature giving Rockefeller credit for three teacher pay increases was misleading.

Mrs. Glover told a news conference Monday that Rockefeller had opposed a 1967 bill which gave teachers two $500 raises and a 1969 bill which gave them $77.

In answer to a question at College of the Ozarks, Rockefeller confessed that he had opposed the 1969 increase because it was insultingly small. He was trying at the time for a tax increase which could have provided more generous increases.

Can You Spare a Dime Days Are Gone for the Big City Panhandlers

By JEFFREY D. ALDERMAN
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — For the panhandlers of New York City, the days of "Can you spare a dime for a cup of coffee?" are long gone.

As in any modern American business, panhandling has come up with a new bag of gimmicks to increase productivity.

A man, wearing a neat business suit and carrying a slick valise, comes up to you in the Port Authority bus terminal near Times Square.

"Hey buddy," he says. "Help me out, huh? Lost my wallet somewhere and haven't got enough change to get home to New Jersey. Need 40 cents."

He is difficult to resist. But despite his well-groomed, commuter look, the man is probably a panhandler.

Another man, observed recently on a Manhattan street corner, has come up with a more elaborate and probably more profitable version of the same game. He held a fist-full of cash and stopped passersby saying: "Do me a favor, pal? My car got towed away and I don't have enough cash to get it out of the police garage. All I need is four more bucks and I'll have the $75 for the fine and the towing fee."

Clever, huh? So clever, in fact, that this panhandler and other industrious beggars may take in as much as $200 or more a week by simply asking for spare change.

Panhandlers tend to congregate in areas where they will meet unsuspecting, less hardened out-of-towners. The bus and railroad stations are favorite spots, as are the major tourist attractions.

Music is often used to lure nickels and dimes from people. A man who stations himself daily near St. Patrick's Cathedral plays the violin while people drop change into a hat on the sidewalk. Another fellow plays a trumpet daily near a major department store. He has a dish for change and a sign saying, "Trying to get better."

While his response seemed noncommittal, and he never has publicly committed himself to backing Agnew for renomination, the chief executive added a few words certain to encourage his vice president: "I must say that he is one of the great campaigners of all ... I think he is doing a wonderful job."

It was understood that Agnew placed a concerned telephone call to the White House after reading the report that he might be sidetracked.

The story, published in the Dallas Times Herald, was distributed by the Washington Post-Los Angeles Times news service and was written by David Broder.

Jim Allison, deputy chairman of the Republican National Committee, said, "I wish they'd run that story next week ... It doesn't help."

Allison apparently theorized that Texans might interpret the published account as an administration "plant" to win their votes—and react against it.

Harry Dent, one of Nixon's chief political lieutenants, said of the Bush-for-vice-president story, "There's nothing to it."

Ronald L. Ziegler, Nixon's press secretary, said today "There has been absolutely no discussion by the President and his principal aides about the 1972 vice-presidential nomination—or even whether he will himself be a candidate for re-election."

Nixon scheduled for today what he jokingly termed "a rather light day."

"I have two meetings in Illinois, one in Omaha, Neb., one in Rochester, Minn., then in San Jose, Calif., and then in San Clemente, Calif.," he said.

The President's immediate mission in Illinois was to boost Ralph Tyler Smith for an elected term in the Senate. Republican Smith, according to Illinois polls, is the distinct underdog in his contest with Democrat Adlai E. Stevenson III.

Alleged Plot to Kill Nixon Brings Alert

CHICAGO (AP) — A report of two men, one with an automatic rifle, driving within a mile of a hotel where President Nixon spent the night prompted suburban police to alert federal authorities today about a possible assassination plot.

Illinois State Police issued an all-point bulletin for the men who officers said were wanted for questioning about their presence in the area.

The President arrived at O'Hare International Airport Wednesday night and was staying in a motel not far from the airport in northwest Chicago, before resuming his campaign for Republican candidates in next week's election.

State police said they received information on the two men from police in Arlington Heights, a northwestern suburb.

The FBI in Chicago said it had been informed and was investigating.

Civilization Closing in on Wildlife and High Mountain Streams

By BILL WINTER
Associated Press Writer

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) — Civilization is closing in, even in the high mountain meadows and rushing streams, and the animals are fading away.

The grizzly bear and timber wolf are among the threatened species in the lofty Rocky Mountain ranges of western Montana and in surrounding states of the 29,096,827-acre northern region of the U.S. Forest Service.

This week the Forest Service made public a list of endangered and rare species, saying it is time to begin saving these animals, for there is not much time left.

Included on the list of endangered species, those which face immediate danger of extinction, are the timber wolf, the whooping crane and the Montana westslope cutthroat trout.

Listed as rare are the grizzly bear, Arctic grayling, spotted bat and prairie falcon.

Howard Foulger is chief of the division of range and wildlife for the northern region, which includes Montana, North Dakota, western South Dakota, northern Idaho and eastern Washington.

Fair Skys, Warmer Is Predicted

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The National Weather Service is predicting fair skies and warmer temperatures following the passage of a cold front through the state Wednesday.

The weather service said that clear skies will make the temperatures rise around the state, following a chilly night. Fayetteville recorded the low of 32 degrees.

As the cold front moved through Eastern Arkansas near the Mississippi River dense fog formed making driving hazardous.

The forecast for the next few days is clear skies and a little warmer temperatures. Freeze warnings have been issued for portions of Northern Arkansas tonight.

Highs Wednesday ranged from 58 at Fayetteville and Harrison to 67 at Memphis.

Overnight lows were Fayetteville, 32; Harrison, 35; Jonesboro, 37; Pine Bluff, 38; Texarkana, 41; El Dorado, 37; Memphis, 45; and Little Rock, 40.

More Trouble Expected in Middle East

By ALEX EFTY
Associated Press Writer

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — More trouble is expected from the Palestinian guerrillas in Jordan following King Hussein's announcement that one of their foes will head his third government in six weeks.

Hussein appointed Wasfi Tell, a veteran politician opposed to the guerrilla activities of the Palestinian commandos, to replace Ahman Toukan, a Palestinian named prime minister three weeks ago.

The change came amid a lull in the fighting between the guerrillas and the Jordan army, which erupted into a full-scale civil war last month.

The king and guerrilla leader Yasir Arafat reached a ceasefire agreement Sept. 27 and signed other accords on Oct. 1 and Oct. 13. Sporadic fighting continued as guerrilla and army leaders sat down in Amman last Saturday with a three-man Arab peace mission and went over a "final" agreement to end hostilities.

Sunday night, for the first time since the war broke out, no shooting was reported in Amman or the rest of Jordan. The situation had remained quiet.

Blacklist of Radical Speakers Withheld, Heads for the Courts

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress and the courts appear headed for a showdown over a federal judge's landmark decision that an official House report is a "blacklist" of radical campus speakers and cannot be publicly printed.

The House Internal Security Committee which issued the report promptly announced Wednesday it will appeal the decision in line with Chairman Richard H. Ichord's vow to challenge the courts' power to issue such an order against Congress.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge Gerhard A. Gesell ruled the report has no proper legislative purpose and was "issued solely for sake of exposure or intimidation."

Gesell prohibited official publication.

Bumpers Is Willing to Debate WR

SPRINGDALE, Ark. (AP) — Dale Bumpers, the Democratic gubernatorial nominee, said here Wednesday he is prepared to debate Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller any time between now and next Tuesday's general election.

Bumpers, speaking to about 2,500 persons at a rally here, said he was willing to meet Rockefeller "any time, any place of his choosing" for a televised discussion of the issues in the governor's race. Bumpers said if necessary he would cancel previous engagements so the debate could be held. He said, however, the debate could not interfere with his own committed television time.

John Ward of Rockefeller's public relations staff said Wednesday night when informed of Bumpers' statement, the governor was still "very interested" in debating Bumpers.

Ward said, however, that he had been told by officials of Little Rock's television stations that it was now too late to schedule a televised meeting of the candidates. Ward also said he thought Bumpers was aware that it was too late to schedule a debate.

Bumpers has blamed Rockefeller, the Republican gubernatorial nominee, for the fact that so far no debate had been held.

Rockefeller, who originally proposed the debate, has said that Bumpers is trying to avoid a face-to-face discussion of issues even though their representatives agreed Oct. 5 on the format for a televised meeting.

U.S. Flatly Rejects Cong Demands

By STEPHENS BROENING
Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP) — The United States today flatly rejected the North Vietnamese-Viet Cong demand for the removal of the top three men in the Saigon government. But it said the Communists' other basic demand at the Paris peace talks—the unconditional withdrawal of all American troops by next June 30—is negotiable.

"You may not like the answers," Ambassador David K. E. Bruce told the Communists at the 90th weekly session of the talks, "but I wish to leave you in no doubt that these are serious responses designed to lead to real discussion of the issues involved in a settlement."

"We are ready to negotiate an agreed timetable for complete withdrawals as part of an overall settlement," Bruce said, "... but a timetable for U.S. troop withdrawals cannot be established in isolation. Our proposal offers a reasonable basis for negotiating our differences on this issue."

"You also ask whether we will agree to your demand that changes be made in the government," he said. "There should be no mistake about our answer to this question. As the President said on Oct. 7, this is a patently unreasonable demand and is totally unacceptable."

Bruce also said South Vietnam "has offered to discuss with you unconditionally all aspects of a political settlement." This is something the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong have refused to do.

Earlier in the meeting, South Vietnamese Ambassador Pham Dang Lam rejected both the two basic Communist demands as "unacceptable" preconditions for serious talks. He said the North Vietnamese-Viet Cong insistence on acceptance of these two points was proof that "your main concern is a total victory and not a negotiated peace."

U.S. Newsmen, Jap Killed in Ambush

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — An American newsmen and a Japanese photographer who won a Pulitzer Prize in 1966 were ambushed and killed Wednesday afternoon 20 miles south of Phnom Penh.

Cambodian soldiers found the bodies of Frank Froesch, 27, Indianapolis, Ind., and Kyoichi Sawada, 34, Tokyo, about 30 feet from their car on Highway 2 this morning. Both had been shot in the chest several times.

The two men were employed by United Press International.

Froesch was a graduate of Virginia Military Institute and the University of Georgia and worked for two Georgia papers, the Oglethorpe Echo and the Athens News. As a captain in the Army, he served as an intelligence adviser to South Vietnamese forces in Quang Ngai Province. He left the Army in 1968, joined UPI and had been the agency's bureau chief in Phnom Penh since last June. He was married to the former Sandra Kay Huffman of Indianapolis, and they had two boys, 5 and 1.

Sawada joined UPI in 1960 in Tokyo and went to Vietnam in 1965. He won the Pulitzer for a picture of a Vietnamese woman and her children struggling through a river, seeking safety from the fighting. His widow is living in Hong Kong.
